Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) and Environmental policy as important part of it is most important entrepreneurial activity in the 21st century.

The vision broadens the focus of the entrepreneurship. Value should not only be added in the economic area (Profit), but also ecologically (Planet) and socially (People). Marketing Press finds it no less than normal to make contribution to a durable society by not only considering the financial picture when making decisions, but also the society and the environment.

The first step towards Environmental Policy has been taken by drawing up this dynamic document.
